PARTS BULLETIN No. 2-10

03-05-10

Subject: MULTISTREAM AIR SEEDER - Farmscan Canlink Monitor System

Multistream Air Seeders were originally all fitted with the Farmscan Canlink 3000 Monitor System. In recent years the Canlink 3000 and 3500 systems have been an option, alongside the KEE Zynx systems.

Farmscan, which is a division of Computronics, has had problems for some time and, despite a change of ownership, has not been able to regain its former strength.

We have been informed that Computronics are attempting to re-structure and are attempting to sell the Farmscan Division to a Victorian based Company. This sale has been in negotiation since February, and has now been complicated by the trading entity of Computronics being placed in voluntary administration.

The sale may well be concluded as planned but the formal administration procedures will take time. In the meantime, the Farmscan division has ceased trading and all staff are on unpaid leave.

The effect on us is that spare parts for Farmscan products are currently not available. Our stocks of some items have run out and others are very low.

Some dealers may be Farmscan Dealers as well and have some stock of their own. Other dealers may be able to source Farmscan parts from other sources in their networks.

We can only suggest that you grab what you can, from wherever you can, until this situation is resolved.
